

Introduction

Of the fifty European countries, 27 nations belong to the European union (EU) which is a political and economic union.

This might surprise you but Europe is actually the second smallest continent in size even though it has the third largest population.

Shockingly about 10% of the world's population lives in Europe!

Famous foods of Italy

Italy has delicious food! Some of the most famous foods in the world come from there.

Here are some examples :

- Ice cream
- Pasta
- pizza

The five most spoken native languages in Europe are: Russian, German, French, English and Turkish.

English is the language spoken by most people as first and second languages (about 270 million people). However, Russian has the most native speakers (about 100 million).

"Merhaba"

"Bonjour"

"Guten tag"

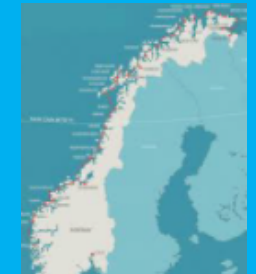

"Привет"

So many languages!!!!!!!

Mount Elbrus in Russia (5,642m / 18,510ft) is the highest mountain in Europe. Mount Elbrus is part of the Caucasus mountain range.

Norway has the longest coast line in Europe with over 100,000km/62,000m

The Danube flows through ten countries and is the second longest river in Europe (2,860km/1,777m)

Who knew there were so many cool places?